Strategic Arms & Ammunition Manufacturing Business

The Arms & Ammunition plant, located just three hours northwest of Bucharest, is a rare strategic asset. Formerly one of Europe's largest facilities, its true value lies not only in its infrastructure but in its construction, zoning, and licenses—assets that would take years to replicate. Coupled with our corporation's operational permits, this allows us to start production immediately, simply by upgrading equipment and activating the facility.

In today's rapidly evolving defense landscape, modernization of arms and armaments is critical. Our approach ensures that armed forces have access to the latest technology and weaponry, providing a decisive strategic advantage. By leveraging this facility, we accelerate time-to-market, reduce capital expenditure, and address a growing global demand—while simultaneously strengthening national and regional security.

MARKET overview

- 18BN$ 2023 worldwide market for small caliber ammunition only
- 35BN$ 2023 worldwide market for armaments in total
- 46BN$ Projected 2030 worldwide market for armaments

As legacy manufacturers in the US, UK, and Asia struggle to meet unprecedented worldwide demand for ammunition and arms, a group of businessmen and entrepreneurs with strong military backgrounds is reviving one of the world's formerly largest armaments manufacturing facilities, strategically located in Eastern Europe.

Location

The Arms & Ammunition facility is strategically situated 450 km from the Ukrainian border in a newly developed area. It lies 60 km from the nearest NATO base, on a rail spur and near a fork in the Danube River. Its proximity to the Danube provides quick access to the Black Sea and nearby infrastructure adjacent to NATO allies, offering significant logistical and strategic advantages.
